GREAT WOMEN I HAVE KNOWN (17) Shelly, short for Rochelle, was another one I met at the Old Levy. From across the room she bought me a beer, so naturally I had to thank her, talk to her, and take her home with me. She was somewhat cute, despite a case of post-teenage ACNE, was witty and intelligent and had a nice body. She was a registered nurse, and made good money at it. She was easily depressed, though, and often talked about suicide, usually in a darkly humorous tone, but with an element of seriousness. People dying in her intensive care unit upset her. She was often tense in lovemaking, which made it painful at times, but with my infinite patience usually managed to enjoy sex. She talked about going to law school, and she began asking me why I wasn't more ambitious. I thought that was a strange concept, and said so. Despite stereotypes, overmaterialism will become the Jewish spirit; it seems unnatural. But basically Shelly was a nice girl, and I dated her for awhile.

GREAT WOMEN I HAVE KNOWN

(18) And then there was the 17-year-old who made obscene phone calls to Yellow Cab of K.C. I took her up on her sensuous suggestions, which probably wasn't in her plans, but fitted mine quite well. However, her inexperience and immaturity proved to be a drawback; i.e. she wasn't as good as she sounded. Still, it was fun once, and valuable for proving that experience is more erotic than virginity on its like. And there is something exciting about a body that is in the midst of its pubescent development.

GREAT WOMEN I HAVE KNOWN

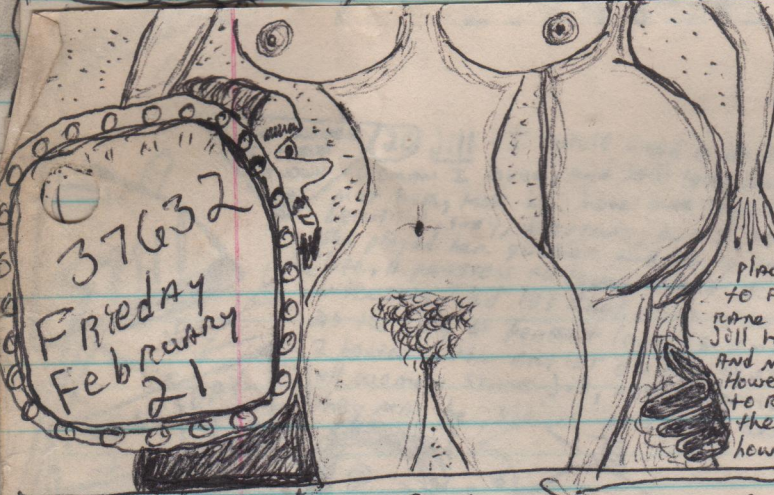

(19) Becky (I think her name was) was an American Indian girl, Cherokee, perhaps, who I met when she began working as a pump attendant at K.C. Yellow Cab. Of course there is something incredibly erotic about a woman pumping gas, but aside from that she had an appealing innocent face, long straight black hair, and a quality of serene determination that I liked. She had a sturdy body, not fat, which was quite pleasant despite some scarring on her back that was evidently from burns. Though I only made love to her two or three times, and she remained personally something of a mystery, I remember her fondly.

GREAT WOMEN I HAVE KNOWN

(21) Vicki - So there I was in Austin TX, Jill gone temporarily to K.C. A country bar called the Backstage I sat drinking a Lone Star and listened to the band. Suddenly a tall slim vivacious young lady walked up and asked "Do you hunt people?" Perhaps she noticed my spiked wristband, I replied, "Not physically." She said "My place or yours?" I like the direct approach. We went to my place. Now, there was a girl who really liked to fuck - all day long if she had time. A rare treat. A couple of months later, after Jill had returned, she showed up at the apt. and made a threesome that was very good. However she turned out to be too possessive to repeat that more than twice. She was the source of some unforgettable pleasure, however.
